Employee Recognition

Dr. Karen Cosby, ultrasound director for the department of emergency medicine, is retiring after 28 years with Cook County Health. For the past 23 years, Dr. Cosby has been in charge of the Department of Emergency Medicine Morbidity and Mortality conferences. She is a recognized national expert in emergency ultrasound and diagnostic errors, lecturing around the world and publishing countless studies and papers throughout her career. Her commitment, drive and determination will be missed at CCH.

IMPACT 2020 Objectives 1.1, 6.2, 6.3, 7.4

Legislative Update

State

- More than 6,600 bills and resolutions were filed this session in the House and Senate. April 12 was the deadline to pass bills out of the originating chamber in order to continue being considered during the spring session. The House and Senate return to Springfield April 30 when they will resume a nearly daily session schedule in an effort to conclude their business and pass a state budget by the May 31 deadline.
- On March 28, the House Appropriations – Capital Committee heard from hospital stakeholders during a subject matter-only hearing. CCH's Deputy CEO Debra Carey presented testimony that outlined CCH's request for $50M in state capital funding to support the modernization of five CCH health centers. The last time Illinois passed a comprehensive capital program that includes transportation and non-transportation funding was in 2009.
- The Senate Executive Committee approved SJRC1, SA1 by a party line vote of 12-5-0 with 2 members not voting; the bill proposes to amend the state constitution to allow for a graduated-income tax rate, instead of the current flat tax rate. Changing the Illinois constitution requires 3/5ths approval by both chambers of the Illinois General Assembly. The issue would then be placed on the 2020 statewide ballot and require approval by 60% of statewide voters. The earliest a state graduated income tax could be implemented would be 2021.
- Governor Pritzker signed HB345 (Tobacco 21) into law, which raises the purchase age for tobacco products, including e-cigarettes and vaping materials, to 21 years (from 18 years), making Illinois the first state in the Midwest, and the 8th state nationwide to enact this change. The bill was led by Representative Camille Lilly (D-Oak Park) in the House and Senator Julie Morrison (D-Deerfield) in the Senate. PA 101-0002 takes effect July 1, 2019.
- Governor Pritzker announced that Illinois would draft administrative rules to clarify Medicaid coverage of gender affirming surgery for individuals 21 years and older with gender dysphoria. This is estimated to impact 1,400 individuals of the 3.1M total Medicaid participants.

Federal

- The House left Washington for a two-week Spring recess on Wednesday, April 10 and the Senate followed suit the next day. While House Democrats touted their legislative accomplishments over the first one hundred days since regaining the majority, including legislation to bolster the ACA, it is unlikely that many of their priority bills will receive a Senate vote, much less make it to the President's desk. Nevertheless, work continues on measures to bring down prescription drug prices and, of course, must-pass annual spending bills.

- Budget and Appropriations: Rather than produce an FY 2020 budget resolution, the House Budget Committee decided to propose a measure to lift the statutory discretionary budget caps imposed by the Budget Control Act of 2011. The legislation would increase both the domestic and defense discretionary spending caps for the next two fiscal years. This would give the Appropriations Committee the top line numbers it would need to begin to craft the twelve annual appropriations bills. By Wednesday House leaders pulled the bill because members of the Progressive Caucus were prepared to join Republicans in voting against the bill because they objected to the levels of defense spending. However, in a procedural move the House did approve a rule that gives the appropriators the ability to begin work as though the measure had passed. Senate Majority Leader Mitch McConnell (R-Ky.) has indicated that he wants to reach a deal, even though the President has made statements suggesting that the White House would be content to let the automatic sequestration cuts kick in.
- Affordable Care Act: In a surprise move, on March 25, the U.S. Department of Justice changed course and told the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals that the government agreed with the District Court in Texas, et al. v. United States and that the entire ACA should be ruled unconstitutional. Previously the DOJ had argued that only the consumer protections like guaranteed issue should be invalidated after Congress zeroed out the individual mandate penalty for not carrying health insurance. After a week of controversy, which included the President calling for another ACA “repeal and replace” effort in Congress, the President said that he would wait until after the 2020 elections. Nevertheless, the Administration’s position before the Appeals Court has not changed. Oral arguments are scheduled for the week of July 8.

On March 28, another federal judge struck down the U.S. Department of Labor rules expanding association health plans under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) as an end-run around the ACA.

- Medicaid: Conversations about reforming the Medicaid disproportionate share hospital (DSH) program continue among Senate Republicans. On April 4, Senate Finance Committee Chairman Chuck Grassley (R-Iowa) published an op-ed in Stat arguing that Congress should not simply “kick the can down the road” by delaying scheduled statutory cuts to the Medicaid DSH program. He called for a new schedule to allow hospitals to prepare for cuts, for updating the Medicaid DSH formula to reflect current needs, and for full transparency and disclosure of all public funds that hospitals receive. House Speaker Nancy Pelosi (D-Calif.) dismissed the idea as a non-starter in the House, suggesting it would reward states that refused to implement the ACA Medicaid expansion. The County is continuing to work to elevate the profile of the issue with our delegation, so that a delay can be included in an appropriate legislative vehicle before the cuts go into effect.

As is often the case in Medicaid, much of the action is in the states. On April 1, Nebraska submitted plans to seek a waiver to impose work requirements and limit benefits for the expansion approved by voters in November. Similarly, on April 9, the governor of Idaho signed a bill which modifies the ACA expansion approved by voters. The new legislation directs the state to apply for an 1115 waiver to impose work requirements and allow those between 100 and 139 percent of the federal poverty level (the so-called Medicaid gap) to retain their subsidized ACA coverage. The next day, on April 10, the Administration appealed the federal district court’s ruling against the Arkansas and Kentucky Medicaid work requirements. The lower court had found that the states had not demonstrated that the work rules furthered the Medicaid program’s goal of medical assistance.

Of note for Medicaid policy, at least five senior officials at the CMS Center for Medicaid and CHIP Services, the agency that oversees the Medicaid program, have resigned since the beginning of the year.

Protection of Medicaid remains a key priority for CCH at both the State and Federal level.

Healthy Communities	The more places that support us in living a healthier life, the better. That's where the Healthy HotSpot initiative comes in. Led by Cook County Department of Public Health in collaboration with many partners, Healthy HotSpot aims to multiply the number of places that make healthy living easier where we live, work, learn, play, worship and receive healthcare. Visit www.healthyhotspot.org to learn more.
Health Equity	All Americans deserve an equal opportunity to make the choices that lead to good health. But to ensure that all Americans have that opportunity, advances are needed not only in health care, but also in education, childcare, housing, business, law, media, community planning, transportation, and agriculture. Making these advances involves working together to eliminate unfair, preventable, and unjust gaps in health and well-being. Health equity was identified as a priority health issue for suburban Cook County during CCDPH's WePlan2020 community health assessment process. Download the report at https://goo.gl/7aeb2B .
Behavioral Health	Behavioral health has also been identified as a priority health issue for suburban Cook County. Behavioral health includes mental illness and substance misuse. According to a 2016 joint CCDPH and Chicago Department of Health report, there were 1,081 opioid-related overdose deaths in Cook County in 2016: 741 in Chicago and 340 in the suburbs. SCC is also experiencing a new surge of opioid-related deaths from Fentanyl and other synthetic opioids. Read the report at https://goo.gl/t2bJQB .

SYSTEM NEWS

April 25, 2019

Letter From the CEO

Dear Cook County Health Friends,

Across the country, providers are moving away from sick care and focusing on health care through preventive treatment and care. At Cook County Health, we are no different.

As one of the largest public health care systems in the U.S., CCH records more than one million outpatient visits and has more than 23,000 inpatient admissions yearly. To meet the growing demands placed on the system, we must continue to evolve to better care for our patients' needs.

As part of that evolution, we are developing our next strategic plan with appropriate emphasis on health and wellness, while remaining true to our historic mission to care for all. When we adopted our current strategic plan, IMPACT 2020, it came after input from a variety of stakeholders including employees, patients and the communities we proudly serve. It also defined opportunities for us to establish a platform for continued success in delivering on our mission and commitment to all of Cook County. We continue to modernize our facilities and expand our services. In addition to our new Professional Building on the central campus and our new Arlington Heights Health Center, we look forward to additional suburban expansion later this year in North Riverside and Blue Island – all projects contemplated in our previous strategic plan.

As we develop our 2020-2022 strategic plan, we look forward to engaging with you about the future of CCH. To that end, please consider joining us at an upcoming town hall meeting to learn about CCH's strategic plan and provide input.

To RSVP, email townhall@cookcountyhhs.org. Your contributions will help CCH develop a strategy that enables us to care for our patients and the communities we serve well into the future. I thank you for your continued support.

Dr. Juleigh Nowinski Konchak

Dr. Juleigh Nowinski Konchak is a preventive medicine and public health physician who serves as a physician leader for Cook County Health's medication-assisted treatment (MAT) initiative for the treatment of substance use disorders.

Dr. Nowinski Konchak works with a multi-disciplinary team within CCH and with external partners to implement access to high-quality, team-based, substance use care across CCH's community health centers, correctional health facility, emergency department and inpatient settings; as well as within primary care clinics at partnering federally qualified health centers (FQHCs). She is also core faculty member for the Peerment's Mediator Academy Program at CCH.

"CCH understands that helping a patient address their psychosocial needs, such as boosting immunity, past trauma or barriers to employment, are necessary to effectively help patients," Dr. Howard Knuchel said. "We can't do that without community partners. It is incredibly rewarding to work in an environment that supports and encourages this coordinated and collaborative care."
